

The lag problem

Why do our arms... or anything on that matter

Look like a broken animation or lag when we swing it around at night near a light

In the day the movement looks perfectly smooth with high "fps" and good enough blur but at night near a light it just looks like you're ultra instinct goku with his arms in multiple places

Please to the creators of real life fix it in the next patch

And for god sake fix the crappy ai of 90% of the human kind

Or should I say of the human minds

Seriously even my avatar acts randomly like an idiot

Just the other day I opened it and saw him playing games, that would be alright if he DIDN'T DO IT 400 DAYS IN A ROW AND NOTHING ELSE

He's just making his time run faster to reach sufferville all the more quickly, jokes aside in 3 days when school will start

Making MY suffermania appear

(I can't wait for the time when people will raise their eyebrows asking what the hell I'm even talking about)

I was going to make "this game needs a self aware comedy suicide" joke but that's just too much and frankly disgusting so screw you past me why do you make jokes anyway that's just dumb as if you want to sound like you want attention

SAY SOMETHING YOU MEAN AND THINK DEBILO

Debili as in დებილი means "idiot" in Georgian

If none of your friends know Georgian and they act inappropriate or just plain out rude you can say that to them... and then dump them because you shouldn't have friends that act that way

Even if you think it would have bad consequences you could get out of it with help from someone else

And yes I did realize that after watching "Cinema therapy" talk about the new "invisible man"